GARDENING AN ANTIDOTE FOR BOLSHEVİK IDEAS

So Y. M. C. A. Is Planning a 1919 Campaign of "Americanism" and the Speaking of the English Language.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Americanism illustrated in growing victory gardens is "the best antidote for bolshevik doctrine," according to the Young Men's Christian association, which is planning a 1919 campaign of "Americanism and the speaking of English language via the victory garden." Details of the campaign were completed here today by the national war garden commission, co-operating with the immigration department of the Young Men's Christian association in Chicago. Plans also provide for the showing of the victory garden work in moving pictures throughout the country.

To start off the campaign, ten thousand garden and canning books have been sent to Chicago in addition to several thousand posters. The Young Men's Christian association had 150 acres of industrial gardens last year and they hope to better that record this year. These gardens are 25x150 feet.

"This is one of the most constructive campaigns yet undertaken," said Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the national war garden commission to-day. "Do not forget that the garden produces something besides food. It produces thrift so important to the nation at this time. Then too, it means contented workers everywhere. The man with a victory garden realizes the value of a home and he knows the value of making regular trips to the bank. Then too, the incentive to get out in the open and speak the English language is of tremendous value."

"The banks of the country know the home food producer for a good customer and a good citizen. The time to begin making that citizenship is when the citizen is new. The best antidote for bolshevik doctrine is the production of food for the kitchen door."

P. S. Eldridge, secretary of the national war garden commission, has just returned from Europe, where he spent three months studying the home food production plans. "He points out that everything possible must be done in the United States to produce food close to the point of consumption in order that other foodstuffs that can be shipped long distances can be sent abroad. There are millions in Europe close to the point of starvation, according to reports from abroad."

Siberia, too, is to learn all about victory gardening. Professor W. C. Kane of the state agricultural college at Durham, N. H., has prepared a garden circular for distribution this summer in Siberia by the agricultural educational expedition under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association. Pictures from the national war garden commission victory garden book are used in the book which has been translated into Russian.

REVIEWED ON GERMAN SOIL

Second Division of Americans Was Inspected by Gen. Pershing

WHO CONFERRED OVER 80 DECORATIONS

Troops Were Drawn Up in Combat Formation on a Great Plateau

Coblentz, Friday, March 14 (By the Associated Press).—General John J. Pershing, who is inspecting the fighting divisions of the American army of occupation, had his first sight this morning of American troops in combat formation on German soil. On a 600-acre plateau on the east bank of the Rhine overlooking Coblentz and the winding river, he inspected the 2d division and presented more than 80 decorations. He later reviewed the division, which passed before him in massed formation, the marching time of the 24,000 men being about 20 minutes.

Mounted on a dappled gray cavalry horse, which was presented by Brigadier General John L. Hines, commander of the third army corps, by the British mission, General Pershing inspected the supply trains, ammunition units and motorized artillery and then passed on to the infantry.

The commander-in-chief, in this part of the program, walked along the lines of soldiers, devoting more than an hour to the work. He questioned company commanders as to their quarters and in reference to conditions generally. He talked to scores of doughboys who wore wound stripes, inquiring if they had fully recovered, and asking others if they wanted to go home. Without exception they were eager to return to America as soon as possible for family and business reasons, but all were perfectly willing, he said, to serve as long as it was necessary for the United States to keep an army in Europe.

At the head of the line those receiving decorations, and for the moment overlooking two generals, was Sergeant Louis Van Lintel of Newark, N. J., whose mother is living in Holland. He was given the congressional medal of honor. During the battle of the Argonne he crossed the Meuse, fell into a German trap, escaped and again crossed the river with valuable information as to the enemy's forces.

Major General John A. Lejeune, commander of the 2d division, was given the distinguished service medal and received the insignia of commander of the French legion of honor. Brigadier General W. C. Neville, commander of the marine brigade at Belleau wood, was decorated with the distinguished service medal. Seventy-eight soldiers received distinguished service crosses.

As a surprise, General Pershing brought with him a congressional medal of honor for Private John J. Kelly of Chicago, 8th marines, as a reward for attacking a machine gun nest on Blanc Mont ridge, in the Champagne. Kelly, however, was on outpost duty and unable to be present.

The plateau where the review took place was used for years by the eighth German army corps for the same purpose.

This afternoon, General Pershing inspected and reviewed the 1st division, which he helped to organize in Washington for service in France. The review took place at Montauban, the headquarters of the 1st division, and in addition to visiting the troops, the commander-in-chief presented a number of decorations, among them being a distinguished service medal for Brigadier General J. D. MacLachlan, the commander of the division.

After the review the commissioned and non-commissioned officers gathered in the center of the field and heard General Pershing tell of the part he took in the formation of the division and recount some of the fine performances of its men during the war. He reminded the men that when they returned home they would receive special attention for their gallantry in France and expressed the desire that they should "uphold their fine, clean records as soldiers when they become civilians." He spoke of the entry of America into the war and of the efforts in securing the peace which is now being debated by the allies, adding that American troops have won the respect of all the allied nations.

General Pershing dined with General Dickman in Coblentz to-night.

MILLIONS POURING INTO U. S. TREASURY

As Persons and Business Firms Paid First Installment of Their Income Taxes—Collectors Will Keep Offices Open Late.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Millions of dollars poured into the offices of collectors of internal revenue to-day as persons and business firms filed their income or profits tax returns and paid the first 25 per cent installment of tax. By the time the collectors' offices closed late to-night it was estimated four million persons and firms would have filed returns and the total tax paid would amount to from $800,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. To take care of the congestion expected to-day, many collectors planned to keep their offices open until late to-night.

Persons or firms failing to file returns to-day are liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 and in addition, 25 per cent of the amount of tax due. Payments made by mail carrying the postmark of to-day, will be received as having met the time requirement, however, even though not received by the collectors to-day.

ARISTOCRACY OF LABOR FORMING IN ENGLAND

And Race Suicide Will Be the Outcome of the Movement by Which Labor Seeks to Destroy Capital, Says Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

London, March 15 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Race suicide, as the result of the "aristocracy of labor," will be the outcome of the movement by which labor now seeks to destroy capital, according to Dean Inge, of St. Paul's cathedral, in an address recently at a meeting of the Eugenics Education society. England's dense population, he asserted, will then disappear and the country will revert to the quiet, rural England of 1750, with London, bereft of her wealth, the "spiritual capital of the world."

"Neither voluntary restriction of births, which only lowers the death rate," he said, "nor famine, nor pestilence, nor war has much effect in reducing numbers. The late war cost 12,000,000 lives from the separation of husbands and wives, in addition to about 8,000,000 killed. But those losses, he added, may be made good in a few years. "But at home we must face the fact that the upper and middle classes probably will be destroyed by predatory taxation. We are witnessing the creation of a new privileged class, an aristocracy of labor, which will become exclusive and conservative when it has won the privilege of exploiting the public for its own profit. It probably will refuse to tax itself for the benefit of the proletariat, so that when the loot of the minority is gone, we shall no longer support the waste-products of civilization."

"From the eugenic point of view this will be an advantage, but since the cheap races must end by capturing our trade, the privileged workers must themselves decay. The trade unionist probably will be allowed to place only one son in his union and will take care not to have more. The industrial employment of women will also lower the birth rate. Thus, in every class there will be a tendency to progressive decrease."

ARE YOU DISAPPOINTED

often by not feeling well enough to attend some social gathering, or to keep an appointment, on account of an attack of indigestion? Such experiences cause disappointment, don't they? You can ward off these attacks, and keep your stomach and digestive organs healthy by taking SEVEN BARKS. Nature's remedy of roots and herbs. When the stomach is out of order, the liver not working properly, or the bowels are sluggish, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion and normal health.

Stomach disorders are the direct cause of nearly all the ailments that affect the human system, and make life a burden, instead of a pleasure. Digestive trouble also spoils beauty, robs you of sleep, makes dark rings around the eyes, and ruins the complexion. Let SEVEN BARKS digest your food and tone your stomach, then you may eat what you like and bright eyes will soon return.

Ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you. Accept no substitute. PRICE, 50 cents.—Adv.

WOULDN'T GUARD TURK HAREMS

Nor Protect Indian Empire of Great Britain, Nor Put Down Irish Revolt

SEN. FALL SCORES LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Wilson Sincere, but Not Capable of Teaching Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt

Santa Fe, N. M., March 15.—Declaring he would never vote for a league of nations which would give the supreme council power to send a million boys to guard the harems of Turkey or protect the Indian empire of Great Britain, United States Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, last night gave the legislature in joint session his opinion of the league of nations covenant.

"It is not our business to put down a revolution in Ireland, and I am frank to say that the Irish have a right, unless the declaration of the United States was a lie, to rebel if they please," he added. "I never will vote to send one of your sons or put him in a position where he may be sent to prevent a revolution in Ireland."

Senator Fall said he gave full credit to President Wilson for patriotism and sincerity, but he added, "I do not believe the ex-president of Princeton university could teach Washington, Jefferson, Monroe, Lincoln, Cleveland and Roosevelt any lesson. I think there is one lesson American people have learned from this war, it is that the United States of America should continue in the path marked out for it by the founders and perpetuators of this nation, and should have nothing to do with the broils of Balkan states or attempts to reconstruct the geography of Europe."

EXORBITANT PRICES PAID BY AMERICANS

They Remain Cheerful While the Natives Pay and Groan and Long for the Good Old Days Before the War.

Paris, March 15 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Americans are cheerfully paying the exorbitant prices charged them for necessities in France, while the natives pay and groan, declared an Associated Press correspondent who has been making an investigation of French high cost of living. Three American newspaper men recently paid $2 for a taxi ride that the taximeter showed should cost about 70 cents. A meal without wine for three hungry scribbles cost $20.

The following figures show the difference between the prices now prevailing in France and those of the ante-war days. Butter $2 a pound against 30 cents before war, eggs $2 a dozen against 22 cents, and vegetables ranging from 14 to 50 cents a pound could be obtained for four, five and six cents previous to the war. Cheese has advanced from 40 cents to 90, coffee from 40 cents to $1.90. Meat has advanced 300 per cent, chickens which were 60 cents are now $2 and very slim birds at that.

The cheapest business suit cannot be obtained under $50 to which must be added $10 as a luxury tax. Silk stockings sell for $3 a pair and one must be careful to use the subway as much as possible in order not to walk through them on the first day, especially when the $14 pair of shoes which one is wearing absorb dampness like a $4 sponge. Washing comes high with soap at 30 cents a cake, and a bath is a luxury.

Monsieur Jussereud, the French ambassador in Washington, has recently returned after a long absence. The collar for which he used to pay 15 francs the dozen now are 39 francs 50 in the same great shop at which he has been trading 20 years and his 16 franc hat has mounted to 40.

Frying a $2 steak for two in a $4 saucepan is a privilege enjoyed only by the rich and a glass of beer at 20 cents plus a five-cent tip to the waiter fastens very bitter to a thirsty wayfarer.

The laboring class at one time was eating much rice. But lately that commodity reached figures out of proportion to the salaries of the working man. A few days ago Food Minister Borel caused the arrest of speculators who were offering rice for sale at 70 cents per pound. It turned out that the rice has been obtained from the food ministry at the legal price of 16 cents a pound. But it had had a circuitous journey before reaching the consumer, passing through six alleged brokers, who, in turn, levied a percentage on the rice. They were each fined 200 francs and costs.

CREDIT FROM CANADA FOR GREECE AND ITALY

Negotiations to This End Begun—Loans Would Buy Canadian Manufactured Goods.

Paris, March 15.—Greece and Italy have joined the European nations that are negotiating with Canada for credit in loans to be employed in the purchase of manufactured goods in Canada. France and Rumania have already signed contracts involving credits of $25,000,000 each and discussions with Belgium regarding a similar loan have been proceeding for some time. The negotiations with Greece and Italy are still in their infancy and the amount of the credits they desire has not yet been stated. It is believed, however, that Greece will be in a position to pay cash for most of the things she needs and will require only a small credit.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK, FEVERISH CHILD

If Little Stomach Is Sour, Liver Torpid or Bowels Clogged.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well-playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what age your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleanser" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups, are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv.

Carpenter Needed.

A carpenter in a suburban town was awakened in the dead of night by the violent ringing of his telephone.

"Is that you, Mr. Johnson," asked the small voice of a little girl. "This is Amy Jones. Mother wants you to come around right away and bring your tools. Father has met with an accident."

"You have made a mistake, Amy," replied the carpenter on hearing the word "accident."

"You want the doctor who lives next door to me."

"You are the one we want, Mr. Johnson," insisted the childish voice. "Father is shut in the folding bed."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Before pouring hot paraffine over newly made jelly, lay a piece of cord from about four to six inches in length across the top of the jelly so that when the paraffine is added, it will harden over the cord. Later when the jelly is to be opened, it is necessary only to take hold of the two ends of the cord to lift the paraffine cover off.

Will Keep On Hoeing.

Farm work by women in the United States not only will continue as widely as during war times, but may increase, according to the officers of the woman's land army of America. The New York state branch of the organization has been holding a convention, and it was decided that there should be no let-up in the business of sending out units of young women to help remedy the labor shortage.

Mrs. Robert C. Hill, who probably knows more than anyone else about enlisting city girls for country work, is authority for the statement that farmers all over the state have become enthusiastic backers of the land army. At first they were skeptical, insisting that women could not do the heavy work of men. The hundreds of girls who went out with the units, however, have shown that industry and skill could make up for mere strength in most farming activities, and there are some kinds of work in which on the average they even excel men.

A farmer who owns several hundred acres near Poughkeepsie was one of the speakers at the convention. He told in detail how he had done his work through the last season with the help of the young women, after he had been unable to get men. The results were better than in former years and he has notified the land army that he will take the girls as long as they want to come to his place.

Begin Day with Smiling Face.

A smile in the morning is worth two at night.

A breakfast dish that never fails is truly worth its weight in gold. Often the breakfast dissatisfaction is really a personal dissatisfaction that we take out on the food. The housewife who pays no attention to morning grouchiness is wise and the winner in the long run. Mildly is also quite human and just as likely to feel crosswise in the morning as any other member of the family. The capable woman is too busy setting a harmonious, progressive keynote for the day to even think of her own mental attitude, according to the director of home economics for Armour & Co. Happiness is much a matter of habit. If mildly decides to be happy and poised in the morning, she will soon take on that attitude as she does her fresh morning frock.

The attractive appearance of table, food and mother has a great influence for good work upon school children as well as upon the workers who must go to office or shop.

It often seems a waste of time to the woman who has a full day of cleaning before her to dress daintily for breakfast. She would dress for a social affair; why not a fresh frock for breakfast, even if she must change immediately upon the close of the door after the last departing worker? Your fresh, happy appearance and the good, attractively served breakfast are great factors in the day's success for the entire family.

Cleanliness at Home.

"The Housekeeper's Responsibility for Tuberculosis" is the subject of an article in a recent periodical, and as houses and housekeeping suggest much of the whole sphere of woman's work, the title is advisedly used. In one of the publications of the National Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis is the following statement: "The friends of tuberculosis are sunlight, fresh air, good food, rest."

We quote to some extent from the article as follows: "A while ago everybody thought that tuberculosis was hereditary. Now we know that it is a house disease, thriving because we do not live enough in the open air and sunshine and because we have chosen to live in cities so crowded that air and sunshine have a high price set on them."

"Water, light and air are nature's great disinfectants. If the housekeeper bears this in mind, she need not fear tuberculosis or many other disease that like dark or unsanitary surroundings. First of all, remember that while no one can live without air, anyone can get used to bad, stale air, and living in it will so lower the vitality that we are likely to catch anything that is floating around."

"A properly ventilated house is essential to good health. There should be a window open in the bedroom summer and winter. Begin with a few inches at a time if you are not used to it, but have pure air in the room at night. Sunshine is the cheapest tonic in the world and one of the best disinfectants. No disease germ can live long on exposure to direct sunlight. When you add plenty of clean water, good soap, elbow grease and fresh air to the sunlight, you have a cleanliness that is hard to beat."

Heavy stuffed articles that are not properly cleaned and aired are dirt and dust breeders and they, in turn, harbor germs. See that these articles are kept as clean as your other furniture.

Plumbing is another thing that must be closely looked after in order to preserve the health of your family.

While tuberculosis is not apt to be carried by water, it is known to be carried by milk, and as the article referred to goes on to say, "milk is such a fundamental food in the household that a great deal of care should be taken to keep it clean, cool and free from flies in the summer. The housekeeper who has the welfare of her family at heart does not begin to watch for danger when the milk arrives at her doorstep. She should know something of where the supply she uses comes from and how it is handled."
